

LOCAL ITEMS.

Turtle Soup at Yank McCarthy's every Saturday night.

Miss Kate Kessler is visiting this week at Point Pleasant, W. Va.

The Sunday School of the Hunter Street Lutheran Church, held a very enjoyable picnic last Thursday.

Mr. Jacob Weaver, not Judge Acker as published last week, is the Treasurer of the Democratic Executive Committee.

Mr. Will Frisch has completed the ceiling on his business room and is adding a number of other improvements to his store.

Col. Mullin of Floodwood, will occupy the Payne house on Front street, and not Baird's, as stated last week.

Gas Magoon has sold his lot on 24th, adjoining Dr. Wright's, 37 feet front, to Jas. Watkins, of Murray, for $750. Mr. Watkins will build and remove to our town.

Mr. Geo. Gage has bought the Stires' lot on Elgin Heights, adjoining Camp Jake Weaver. Consideration $400. Mr. Gage proposes building a handsome residence.

Col. Constable of Athens, was in our city on last Saturday, purchasing equipment for a sewing machine. Logan attracts the patronage of men of money and good taste from all our surrounding suburbs.

It is a good idea to buy the cheapest if you can get a good article, but don't never pay a full price for a bad article. Hostler's Beer is the best in the market.

The 7th O. V. I. will hold its 5th annual reunion at Camp Rannella, McArthur, August 19th. The railroad will carry passengers at reduced rates. The McArthur comrades invite the Logan boys to visit them.

Chas. S. Kerwood, residing six miles north of Logan, will sell at public sale, on Tuesday, August 28th, a lot of stock, farm implements, farm products and household goods. For particulars see bills.

Cynthia L. Shultz will sell on the farm of David Shultz, late deceased, 3 miles south of Logan, on Friday, August 21st, a lot of stock, farm implements, household furniture, &c. For particulars see bills.

G. B. Bright, the attentive and obliging Clerk at Phil Slisher's, fairly out-does himself this hot weather. He keeps everything buried in ice, and is bound to cool off all who call in.

On last Saturday Oliver Kelli's little boy had one of his toes cut off by a horse striking the little boy's foot with the cork of his shoe. The toe was cut out as smoothly as if it had been severed by a surgeon's knife.

Harry Patterson and Charley Jadin were bound over to court on a charge of assault on a boy named John W. Anderson. The nature of the case was, three boys caught Anderson, stripped him and ducked him in the river.

Judge Finckel of Mansfield, one of the old and prominent Democrats of Northern Ohio, visited his brother, Dan Finckel, in Logan, last week.

Ned McManigal has retired from the insurance business and taken an engagement as traveling agent for the New York and Western Coal & Iron Co.

The Logan Manufacturing Co shipped to Chillicothe one of the handiest workbenches we have ever seen, manufactured at their shops. The fact that Logan can sell goods of her own manufacture to the first Capital of Ohio, speaks well for the enterprise and skill of our mechanics.

Harlow White has just received another car load of Hostler Sons & Co's. Celebrated Beer. It is the most pure Beer now made, and sells from 20 to 25 cts. higher per keg than any other Beer in the city.

Mr. A. Butin of Ft. Pleasant, is visiting in Logan this week.

The organ used at the Grant Memorial exercises, was generously tendered by the Misses Dollison.

Tom Meldrum carried in the procession last Saturday the old Sentinel flag, which was donated to this office by Alex White over forty years ago.

The finest Watermelons, the best Celery and the choicest of Fruits, can always be obtained at Phil Slisher's Grocery.

Mr. T. S. Tischer, formerly of our town, is at present employed in St. Louis, and is one of the most enterprising young men of that prosperous city.

GRANT MEMORIAL EXERCISES IN LOGAN.

Last Saturday was a memorable day in the history of Logan. At sunrise the day was aroused by the cannon firing a Federal salute. During the day the cannon was fired every half hour.

The business houses and many private residences were draped in appropriate emblems of sorrow. The bells of the city tolled from 12 to 1 o'clock.

A stand was erected in the old cemetery and handsomely decorated. Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Phil Thompson, Mrs. Frank James and Mrs. O. W. H. Wright had charge of this work, and exhibited rare good taste in the emblems and designs displayed.

The procession was formed in front of the Court House, under the direction of Col. Friesner, assisted by Ed. Dawson, John Hansen and Craven Clowe. The Logan Band marched in front followed by the Sons of Veterans, the city and county officials, the Fire Company, Sunday School children, citizens, ex-soldiers, Knights of Pythias, and the J. K. Rochester Post, G. A. R.

The line of march was as published in the program. The procession made a very handsome appearance, and the best of order prevailed.

The Sons of Veterans, K. of P. and G. A. R., were uniformed. The firemen and ex-soldiers wore badges. The engine was draped in mourning.

While the procession was moving, the pavements were crowded with people, not less than two thousand persons attending the exercises.

At 2 o'clock the meeting opened, according to the program published.

The invocation by Rev. Williams was impressive, and in sentiment, appropriate.

The choir, Mrs. Phil Thompson presiding at the organ, rendered in most excellent style the following choice selections:

1. "For You and for Me"—Chorus by Choir.

2. "Sleep Thy Last Sleep"—Quartet by Miss Lou Dollison, Mrs. Oliver Wright, Mr. Marshall Walker, Col. W. F. Friesner.

3. "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep"—Solo by Miss Mollie McBride.

4. "Nearer My God to Thee"—Choir.

Dr. Jas. Little, one of the committee, read appropriate resolutions of respect.

The speeches were able and eloquent, full reports of which are presented elsewhere.

The old soldiers called on comrade John Hansen for a speech, but he was not present. A testimonial from him appears elsewhere.

Rev. Hart closed the exercises with Benediction.

The day passed off with quiet and good order.

The committee, especially Messrs. Weaver, Pullen, Wright, and Myers, are entitled to credit for the successful demonstration.

The speeches made on the occasion will be found as able and appropriate as any delivered in the country.

A Young Horse Thief. On last Monday, Mr. Hartzell of near Union Furnace, came to town in his buggy and hitched his horse in Jacob Keller's yard. A boy named James Davis, son of Henry Davis, about ten years old, took the rig and started down street as fast as the horse could go. He went down the river road as far as Parkers, watered the horse, drove back and then started out on the New Lexington road, stopping at Henpeck, and taking in the buggy with him a little son of Mrs. Fields.

The two then took the Gores road as fast as the horse could go. Hartzell saw the boy going out of town, but could not halt him. Getting a horse at the livery stable he gave chase, overtaking the boys beyond McKinney's. When he caught up, the boys jumped out and tried to escape, but Hartzell compelled them to go back with him.

Young Davis was sent to jail, and will be given a term at the Reform Farm.

Shall Logan Have Bent Works?

Citizen's Meeting.

The citizens of Logan are called to meet in the Repeal House on Thursday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, to consider the proposition of Mr. Witherspoon of Baltimore, O., to remove his Bent Works to Logan.

This enterprise will be a great help to Logan. It will give employment to from twenty to fifty men. The wood used is of varieties for which there is here no market in our town or county.

The goods will be sold abroad and all the money will be clear gain to our town.

Every citizen should interest himself in the enterprise, and as many as possible should attend the meeting.

Mr. Witherspoon will be here.

Choked to Death. On last Sunday morning, Mrs. J. S. Lancer, residing near Gibsons, Ohio, choked to death by false teeth lodging in her throat. She had been in feeble health for some time, and on the morning, whilst lying in bed, was seized with a violent coughing fit. Her upper full set of artificial teeth became dislodged and stuck in her throat, falling in such position as to shut off the breathing.

Dr. Campbell was immediately sent for, but before he arrived the poor woman was dead. The teeth were easily removed by the surgeon's skill, but the doctor came too late. The family have the universal sympathy of the public in their sad bereavement.

Rock House Items. Minerva Chilcote had a valuable shepherd dog killed a few days ago by a stranger who was passing by.

Robert Toole, of Revenge, and Mr. Hay of Columbus, were the guests of John Romel last Sunday.

Henry Keller was seen walking around the house on his head a few days ago. When asked what it meant, said he felt so happy because it was a boy. Hurrah for Grover Cleveland Keller!

Lab Carrel had a valuable cow killed by lightning the 2nd.

Peter Fox sold a thoroughbred bull to Henry Stoddy of Enterprise.

Miss Hannah Hodges will move to South Perry next month.

Tippecanoe attended the grand ball at Lutz Bros. a short time ago. Henry Carrel's string band furnished the music.

The Aspen, Colorado Daily Times of July 28th, says: Miss Stiehl Sain, the accomplished sister of C. M. Sain, late Columbus, Ohio, yesterday to join her brother in Aspen. Miss Sain will be a valuable acquisition to Aspen's society. Mr. Sain is a member of Mr. Lloyd's engineering corps and the resident telegraphic correspondent of the Tribune Republican.

Mr. Minerva Love, formerly of this city, left last week to join her husband, Mr. Samuel Love, at Wright, California.

Misses Cooney and Connelly, two charming young ladies of Columbus, who have been visiting the Misses McBrides the past week, returned home on last Friday.

Jim. Watkins, of Murray City, attended the Grant Memorial Exercises in this city on last Saturday.

Vic and Lucy Tischer visited friends in Stralville, O., last Sunday.

Good Wheel. Mr. Al. Drebach of Benton, reports to us the best yield of wheat in Hocking this year. From 85 dozen of average bush grown on about 4 acres, he threshed 72 bushels. The wheat was grown on an east hill side, 3rd crop, shovelled in, and no manure. If any one can beat this we would be glad to hear from him.

Teacher's Institute. The annual session of the Hocking County Teacher's Institute, will be held at Logan, commencing August 24, 1888, continuing two weeks.

Mrs. James Anderson of Laurel township, died on last Monday. Her remains were interred Tuesday at Gibsonville.

Born Beer is taking the lead to boom beer in Logan. A business card of the Columbus brewery is published elsewhere.

Gen. Harrison of Baltimore, visited our city this week. He is well pleased with the large and increasing trade, secured to his store by the polite attention of his boys, and the advertising of the Sentinel.

Testimonial To General Grant.

From John Hansen, 58th O. V. I.

To the Editor of the Hocking Sentinel: Not having had an opportunity to publicly identify myself with the memorial services of the day, will you please place in your columns for the following:

Gen. Grant's body has reached its resting place in Riverside Park on the banks of the Hudson, in the great American city.

The parade and reconstruction of a hundred thousand cities, villages and county gatherings, are unending. The booming of cannon, the tolling of bells, the sounding of the bugles and the playing of music, are in silence, a deep and almost impenetrable gloom has settled around and over us, and we now more fully than heretofore realize that there has gone from us, never to return, the greatest man America and perhaps the world has ever produced.

How strange it is that the man who accomplished so much, knew so much, lived so far in advance of his time, whose voice attracted the attention of the world, who was once inspired at once in the mind of friend and foe, American and foreigner, an admiration akin to devotion, should in one brief moment be stricken from our midst.

We believe that his death, and what it is, and where the power is that can thus transform such greatness, such power, such attractions into mere clay like the potter's vessel. The answer comes back to us in thundering tones: "The God who made the world, the God who made the man, the God who made the nation, the God who made the great, the better than the best," and we must bow our heads in humble submission.

Many great men have lived in the world, but none have been so great as General Grant. His greatness of mind combined with such goodness of heart, a devoted husband, an affectionate father. The wife of his youth, who toiled with him in adversity, was remembered by him in prosperity. His greatness of mind has never been marred by him for want of devotion to family and friends or to his country.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

The funeral procession of today is not only the greatest but the most magnificent ever recorded in history. The spectacle of the Confederate General, who surrendered to him less than a quarter of a century ago, when malice and strife, love of home and home, and the love of a nation for victory and fame and all the passions of the human head and heart were arrayed against him, riding side by side with his subordinates—Generals, Senators and Governors—on the same platform, is a sight to be remembered.

Dust to Dust.

Last Hours Before the Shelter of the Tomb.

At Cincinnati. On Saturday, Aug. 11, the appearance of the city everywhere indicated that its citizens were gathered to the funeral of General Grant. The streets were crowded, and the people were dressed in mourning.

The funeral procession was formed in front of the Court House, under the direction of Col. Friesner, assisted by Ed. Dawson, John Hansen and Craven Clowe. The Logan Band marched in front followed by the Sons of Veterans, the city and county officials, the Fire Company, Sunday School children, citizens, ex-soldiers, Knights of Pythias, and the J. K. Rochester Post, G. A. R.

The line of march was as published in the program. The procession made a very handsome appearance, and the best of order prevailed.

The Sons of Veterans, K. of P. and G. A. R., were uniformed. The firemen and ex-soldiers wore badges. The engine was draped in mourning.

While the procession was moving, the pavements were crowded with people, not less than two thousand persons attending the exercises.

At 2 o'clock the meeting opened, according to the program published.

The invocation by Rev. Williams was impressive, and in sentiment, appropriate.

The choir, Mrs. Phil Thompson presiding at the organ, rendered in most excellent style the following choice selections:

1. "For You and for Me"—Chorus by Choir.

2. "Sleep Thy Last Sleep"—Quartet by Miss Lou Dollison, Mrs. Oliver Wright, Mr. Marshall Walker, Col. W. F. Friesner.

3. "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep"—Solo by Miss Mollie McBride.

4. "Nearer My God to Thee"—Choir.

Dr. Jas. Little, one of the committee, read appropriate resolutions of respect.

The speeches were able and eloquent, full reports of which are presented elsewhere.

The old soldiers called on comrade John Hansen for a speech, but he was not present. A testimonial from him appears elsewhere.

Rev. Hart closed the exercises with Benediction.

The day passed off with quiet and good order.

The committee, especially Messrs. Weaver, Pullen, Wright, and Myers, are entitled to credit for the successful demonstration.

The speeches made on the occasion will be found as able and appropriate as any delivered in the country.

A Young Horse Thief. On last Monday, Mr. Hartzell of near Union Furnace, came to town in his buggy and hitched his horse in Jacob Keller's yard. A boy named James Davis, son of Henry Davis, about ten years old, took the rig and started down street as fast as the horse could go. He went down the river road as far as Parkers, watered the horse, drove back and then started out on the New Lexington road, stopping at Henpeck, and taking in the buggy with him a little son of Mrs. Fields.

The two then took the Gores road as fast as the horse could go. Hartzell saw the boy going out of town, but could not halt him. Getting a horse at the livery stable he gave chase, overtaking the boys beyond McKinney's. When he caught up, the boys jumped out and tried to escape, but Hartzell compelled them to go back with him.

Young Davis was sent to jail, and will be given a term at the Reform Farm.

Gen. Harrison of Baltimore, visited our city this week. He is well pleased with the large and increasing trade, secured to his store by the polite attention of his boys, and the advertising of the Sentinel.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Hocking County, Ohio.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Sheriff of Hocking County, Ohio, by virtue of a writ of execution issued by the Court in the above entitled case, and sold him directed on Sheriff of said county, will at the door of the Court House in Logan, Ohio, on Saturday, August 24th, A. D. 1888, at one o'clock p. m., of said day, offer for sale at public auction, the following lands and tenements, situate in the Village of Carbonhill, Hocking County, Ohio, to-wit:

Lot number one (1), appraised at nine (9) dollars.

Lot number two (2), appraised at eight (8) dollars.

Lot number three (3), appraised at ten (10) dollars.

Lot number four (4), appraised at twelve (12) dollars.

Lot number five (5), appraised at fifteen (15) dollars.

Lot number six (6), appraised at eighteen (18) dollars.

Lot number seven (7), appraised at twenty (20) dollars.

Lot number eight (8), appraised at twenty-five (25) dollars.

Lot number nine (9), appraised at thirty (30) dollars.

Lot number ten (10), appraised at thirty-five (35) dollars.

Lot number eleven (11), appraised at forty (40) dollars.

Lot number twelve (12), appraised at forty-five (45) dollars.

Lot number thirteen (13), appraised at fifty (50) dollars.

Lot number fourteen (14), appraised at fifty-five (55) dollars.

Lot number fifteen (15), appraised at sixty (60) dollars.

Lot number sixteen (16), appraised at sixty-five (65) dollars.

Lot number seventeen (17), appraised at seventy (70) dollars.

Lot number eighteen (18), appraised at seventy-five (75) dollars.

WANTED!

FARMERS MECHANICS!

And others, needing anything in the way of HARDWARE

Farm Implements, &c., to call and examine our goods, see the quality and low prices at which we are selling. We keep in stock everything in the line of General Hardware, Nails, Iron, Steel, Glass Paints, Pumps, Carpenter's & Blacksmith's Tools, Shovels, Rakes, Bird Cages, Revolvers and Cartridges, Pocket Cutlery, Razors, Shears, &c. Also, the latest and best Improved Farm Implements—Peerless Mowers & Reapers, the celebrated Brown Wagons, Henry's Chilled, Economical and "Sweepstakes" Plows.

Mathias & Filing, Logan, April 9, 1885—ly

Ohio State University Columbus

George Fox's MEAT MARKET

Beef Cattle

Probate Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following accounts and vouchers have been filed in the Probate Court of Hocking County, Ohio, for settlement:

Probate Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following accounts and vouchers have been filed in the Probate Court of Hocking County, Ohio, for settlement:

Notice of Sale of Bonds

Office of Treasurer of Village of Logan, August 6, 1888

Notice is hereby given that on TUESDAY, September 18th, 1888, at 10 o'clock, P. M., by virtue of a writ of execution issued by the Court in the above entitled case, and sold him directed on Sheriff of said county, will at the door of the Court House in Logan, Ohio, on Saturday, August 24th, A. D. 1888, at one o'clock p. m., of said day, offer for sale at public auction, the following lands and tenements, situate in the Village of Carbonhill, Hocking County, Ohio, to-wit:

Lot number one (1), appraised at nine (9) dollars.

Lot number two (2), appraised at eight (8) dollars.

Lot number three (3), appraised at ten (10) dollars.

Lot number four (4), appraised at twelve (12) dollars.

Lot number five (5), appraised at fifteen (15) dollars.

Lot number six (6), appraised at eighteen (18) dollars.

WANTED!

FARMERS MECHANICS!

And others, needing anything in the way of HARDWARE

Farm Implements, &c., to call and examine our goods, see the quality and low prices at which we are selling. We keep in stock everything in the line of General Hardware, Nails, Iron, Steel, Glass Paints, Pumps, Carpenter's & Blacksmith's Tools, Shovels, Rakes, Bird Cages, Revolvers and Cartridges, Pocket Cutlery, Razors, Shears, &c. Also, the latest and best Improved Farm Implements—Peerless Mowers & Reapers, the celebrated Brown Wagons, Henry's Chilled, Economical and "Sweepstakes" Plows.

Mathias & Filing, Logan, April 9, 1885—ly

Ohio State University Columbus

George Fox's MEAT MARKET

Beef Cattle

Probate Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following accounts and vouchers have been filed in the Probate Court of Hocking County, Ohio, for settlement:

Probate Notice

Notice is hereby given that the following accounts and vouchers have been filed in the Probate Court of Hocking County, Ohio, for settlement:

Notice of Sale of Bonds

Office of Treasurer of Village of Logan, August 6, 1888

Notice is hereby given that on TUESDAY, September 18th, 1888, at 10 o'clock, P. M., by virtue of a writ of execution issued by the Court in the above entitled case, and sold him directed on Sheriff of said county, will at the door of the Court House in Logan, Ohio, on Saturday, August 24th, A. D. 1888, at one o'clock p. m., of said day, offer for sale at public auction, the following lands and tenements, situate in the Village of Carbonhill, Hocking County, Ohio, to-wit:

Lot number one (1), appraised at nine (9) dollars.

Lot number two (2), appraised at eight (8) dollars.

Lot number three (3), appraised at ten (10) dollars.

Lot number four (4), appraised at twelve (12) dollars.</